Marquette Pogue committed the following violations of his conditions of pretrial release:

Commit no offense in violation of federal, state, or local law

Marquette Pogue was cited by the Memphis Police Department on September 13, 2009, for Driving While License Revoked. The matter is presently set for February 4, 2010, in Shelby County General Sessions Court. Mr. Pogue did not report the above citation to Pretrial Services and falsely reported in subsequent written supervision reports that he had not been questioned by law enforcement or named as a defendant in any criminal case.

It should be noted that Mr. Pogue was cited at 3:25 a.m. in the above matter after having left a voice message at 12:16 a.m. stating that he went to the hospital because of chest problems. Documentation from the Regional Medical Center indicates that he was tested there at 9:10 a.m. on September 13, 2009.

Refrain from attempting to obstruct or tamper with the efficiency and accuracy of any prohibited substance testing or electronic monitoring

Defendant Pogue appears to have, on two occasions, unplugged the electrical connection to his electronic monitoring home unit shortly before leaving his residence and then to have immediately reconnected the unit upon returning to the residence.

Specifically, on September 19, 2009, there was a power fail at 4:09 p.m. shortly before he left his residence at 4:19 p.m. The power was restored at 6:16 p.m. immediately after the defendant returned home at 6:15 p.m. On November 15, 2009, there was a power fail at 11:09 p.m. shortly before Mr. Pogue left his home at 11:10 p.m. Power was restored at 11:41 p.m., which was also the time he returned to the residence.

Marquette Pogue has failed to consistently provide written work schedules and earnings statements and appears to have falsely reported his work hours. Contact on December 17, 2009, with managers at Piggly Wiggly and Checkers, revealed that the defendant was working less than 20 hours per week at Piggly Wiggly and one or two days per week at Checkers. His supervising officer found the defendant absent while she was at Piggly Wiggly that date at approximately 9:15 a.m. though he had reported being scheduled to work from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mr. Pogue had also reported a 40-hour work schedule at Piggly Wiggly for the week beginning December 14, 2009, contrary to information provided by his assistant manager..

Defendant Pogue advised Pretrial Services on December 22, 2009, that he was scheduled to work the following day at Piggly Wiggly and later indicated that he had contact with his assistant manager about working later that date at Piggly Wiggly. He was advised by the supervisory officer that he would be called back in this regard. The assistant manager with whom the defendant reportedly obtaining his work schedule was contacted and related that the defendant was not scheduled to work for the week and had not had any contact with her that day. Defendant Pogue failed to answer his phone when the supervisory officer attempted contact and did not respond to a voice message instructing him to call.

Additionally, Marquette Pogue cut off his electronic monitoring transmitter on December 22, 2009, at 8:57 p.m. without notifying Pretrial Services. The defendant reported to the office the following day with aftercare instructions from Delta Medical Center Emergency Department generated at 9:49 a.m. on December 23, 2009, indicating that he was treated for an ankle sprain. During this office contact, the supervisory officer compared the defendant's ankles and could not detect any redness or swelling. The defendant failed to bring his transmitter to the office on December 22, 2009, and remained without electronic monitoring until reinstallation on December 28, 2009.
